ABOUT

The Two Arm Wall Sconce by Serge Mouille presents a striking visual accent through its expressive silhouette. Part of Mouille's 1950s line of insect-inspired pieces, this slender fixture was a response to the bulkier Italian designs of the time, intentionally created as highly functional and sophisticated art. Two thin aluminum arms gracefully extend from a shared mounting plate, with artfully shaped shades at their end that can be adjusted by brass ball-and-socket joints. Its arms swivel independently, creating the desired ambiance and adding visual drama.
